

Making the right Choice

CHOOSING THE RIGHT PRODUCT

Harmony's Hardwood, Laminate and Bamboo products make an excellent flooring choice. They are constructed from durable material, available in a vast range of species, which compliment any design concept. In addition to creating a warm atmosphere, they add to the aesthetic design and bring a unique quality and warmth to your project. Harmony's floors are easy to maintain and provides a healthy, hypoallergenic environment, which contain recyclable environmentally friendly products.

With so much variety on the market today choosing a floor covering for your next project can become an unnecessary complex decision. That's why we at Harmony have developed our specification folder as a user friendly guide to help you find a floor which will not only meet your design concept but will be appropriate for the environmental conditions of the project. Floor coverings are unique to the aesthetic design of a project as they receive far more wear and tear than any other fixture. It is for this reason that the following folder includes important information regarding the durability, stability and hardness of all our products so you can be assured that the product you choose will be suitable.

When choosing your floor there are two main points to bear in mind;

- The aesthetic effect required
- The environment in which the floor is being laid

1. Flooring Appearance

- This is a completely personal choice.
- Does the floor need to look modern and contemporary or old and rustic?
- Do you want a light, medium or dark colour?
- Is a uniform appearance required or a variegated pattern?

Whatever the requirement, Harmony Floors have timbers to suit, and, being the manufacturer, we can listen to our customers, advice and produce a floor to Custom Specifications.

2. Environment in which the floor is to be laid.

Again, Harmony can advise on the right solution for you. Timber, Bamboo and Laminates all contain natural products and will behave in a natural way. If this is understood and allowed for then any floors can be laid in most conditions and environments. Also the end use of the floor is important to consider whether it is to be installed in an commercial or residential setting and what sort of environmental pressure will be placed on it i.e. high humidity, Sunlight or extremes in temperature.

Within this folder you will find all the information necessary to help you choose a floor that will not only look great but will last a lifetime and give your project a unique edge.

HARMONY ENGINEERED HARDWOOD TIMBER

Whether it is a new home, complete renovation or commercial project, the timeless elegance of Timber can add real value to a property as well as providing a solid floor covering that looks great is durable and has true health benefits.

Timber is non-allergenic it will not absorb dust and dirt particles and is easy to clean and maintain. Due to its natural properties timber also provides a warmth and comfort unlike any floor covering available today.

Hardwood timbers have been used as floor covering for hundreds of years due to their durability and unique aesthetics. Recent developments in construction techniques including pre-finished and engineered floors mean that timber is now easier to install and maintain than at any other time and this is reflected in the growing popularity of timber floors.

These are some of the reasons why we at Harmony Timber floors have developed our unique range of pre-finished Hardwoods with a style and price to suit every application.

HARMONY ECO-BAMBOO

The strength and aesthetic beauty of Bamboo make it the ideal floor covering for your new residential or commercial project. With unprecedented durability and hardness Strandwoven Bamboo delivers a timeless Zen appeal that is perfect in almost any interior setting.

Made from fast growing renewable sources Strandwoven Bamboo is one of the few environmentally sound flooring options available today.

At Harmony Timber Floors we are so certain of the quality and performance of our Bamboo that each floor comes with a 25-year residential surface wear and life-time structural guarantee.

HARMONY TIMBER WALK LAMINATE

Extremely popular in Europe and America for the last 30 years laminate is beginning to make an impact on the Australian market due to its durability and style.

Harmony Timber Walk Laminate floors are market leaders with our unique moisture block barrier system and three finish options giving you an unprecedented choice. Our laminate uses a patented double lock system which is totally glue less plus we produce our planks 12.3mm making them suitable for commercial applications.

Harmony Timber Walk Laminate is an extremely versatile product offering many of the features and benefits of traditional hardwood floors at a fraction of the cost and should be considered when choosing a floor covering for your next project.