Disclaimer:

Note: As timber is a natural product, you will get colour variations in colour and grain, even in stained, smoked surface finishes. You can expect to get variations in, knots and sizing of knots & imperfections. Refer to grading Specifications of Oak timber ABCD & what to expect. If the timber has a brushed natural finish you can expect again to have variations in the depth of brushing due to each board have slightly different surface grains and densities. Samples are only an indication of what can be expected, as raw materials are a natural product and base colours and
